Infor10 ERP Business (SyteLine): Cloud Deployment

Now available on the Infor10 CloudSuite.

Infor10™ ERP Business (SyteLine) already helps manufacturers worldwide improve performance and reduce costs, while web technology keeps top firms connected to the rest of the business world. Now you can combine and multiply those benefits by subscribing to ERP Business through the Infor10 CloudSuite. By combining the manufacturing expertise built into ERP Business and the world-class breadth and security of cloud computing technology, you get universal access to the most powerful manufacturing-specific solution available. All you need is an ordinary web browser, an Internet connection, and a subscription to cloud-based Infor10 ERP Business.

Proven power with total flexibility.

Infor10 ERP Business's (SyteLine's) proven power to streamline every aspect of your manufacturing operation draws on 25 years of refinement by Infor's manufacturing experts. You don't need to roll the dice on untested, cloud-based ERP solutions—now you can access ERP Business from any computer and any Internet connection in the world. You can move seamlessly between the on-premises and cloud-based versions at the same time, any time—or combine the two. You can also expand, relocate, and collaborate with suppliers worldwide, and respond to new opportunities at a moment's notice.

> With Infor10 ERP Business (SyteLine), you don't have to change your business to fit the software— you can adapt and extend the software to fit your business. Infor10 ERP Business provides unparalleled power, with no coding, for improved workflow and better automation.

What's more, you can still extend ERP Business to meet your specific needs, such as tailoring screens for groups or users, building your own screens, and expanding intelligent data objects (IDOs). You can even add your own tables and publish them through your IDOs, with your own screens over them, thanks to the ERP Business framework's Internet-enabled development capability. And best of all, your extensions upgrade automatically.

Maximize power and flexibility with virtually no IT involvement.

Infor's CloudSuite takes advantage of advanced cloud computing technology to extend and expand the power of ERP Business to any location you want, with no involvement from your IT staff. You'll get the power of ERP Business along with a range of valuable benefits, including:

- Reliability and assured performance. With state-of-the-art data centers, world-class service-level agreements (SLAs), and one of the world's largest Tier 1, OC-192 backbones as your content delivery network, you get the reliable processing power and bandwidth you need to keep your business running under all conditions.

- No hardware to buy. When you run Infor10 ERP Business (SyteLine) as an Infor cloud computing solution, Infor will host your account on data centers that are maintained and optimized by our certified experts, who know how to deliver the best performance.
